Our March meeting took place inside the Agroforestry Resource Center.

Sam led the group through an activity focused on Human impacts. Each student designed a portion of a river filling the riverbanks with parks, factories, playgrounds, stores, houses and more. The students shared their drawings and the group discussed how these different things might impact the river and areas down stream. We finished up with an active game about litter. The club is looking forward to getting back in the forest for our April meeting.
